Funding Opportunity for Reproductive Justice Initiative

The ADCO Foundation is now accepting proposals from 501(c)(3) organizations in New York City to support reproductive justice leadership and community organizing initiatives.

Proposals are now being accepted to advance reproductive justice in the areas of leadership, advocacy, and community organizing. The maximum amount of funding available for each grant will be $20,000 to be distributed in 2019.

We seek proposals from organizations that are centered around a reproductive justice framework that

1. Protect abortion clinic access
2. Develop leadership for Reproductive Justice focused organizations
3. Advocate and organize for reproductive health care

ADCO will support projects that center reproductive health, rights, and justice in their strategies. For organizations that do not typically focus on reproductive justice, the proposal should detail how it will accomplish this.

We encourage proposals from organizations led by people of color and/or the communities most impacted by the loss of reproductive health access. We welcome proposals from groups that seek to organize around anti-choice opposition.

If you have questions about your proposed project or idea, please email adcofoundation@yahoo.com
